

ABSTRACT

Cytokine inducers comprising a membrane protein M161Ag which is contained in cells latently infected with Mycoplasma fermentans such as a human myelocytic leukemia cell line P39(+). These cytokine inducers comprising the membrane protein M161Ag or gene recombination products thereof are useful as immunomodulators or remedies for various immunological diseases.